STRONG ASSETS

WHAT WAS THE INTIAL STATUS?

1.

WHERE DOES OUR CUSTOMER SHOP AT?

75-80% of our B2C revenue is done physically in store, unfortunately we only had information from the online customer.

2.

ARE WE ABLE TO GET THE MOST OUT OF OUR STORES

Our Omnichannel set up was regional (DK) and technologically unstable.

3.

CAN WE USE THE TECHNOLOGY WE HAVE?

Despite having "state of the art" technology, it was like owning a Ferrari without a driving license.

IS OUR MASTERDATA CORRECT?

In general, our data quality was not strong enough and processes to train staff were lacking

WAS EVERYTHING PRETTY?

1.

PLANNING IS KEY

When you have to jump into a project like this, there is not such a thing as too much planning and you don't need to do everything at once.

CHAIN MANAGEMENT

We tend to create things that someone else is going to use, learn from their processes and train the final user makes the difference.

3. TEST TEST TEST!

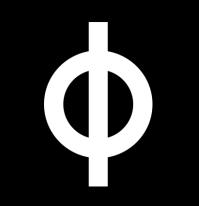

You don't get everything correct at first, there will be flows that won't work the way you want, improvements to be made and things you haven't thought off.

STANDARD OR NOT

Being positive is a great thing in life, unless you work with IT projects. Connectors don't fit all requirements and standardization comes with limitations.
